

Earliest Interactions

Did you know that Maine's Early Hearing Detection and Intervention Program (Maine Newborn Hearing Program) has its own App?! It's called Maine's EHDI Process, and you can find it in the App store and Google Play.

Maine's EHDI Process App was developed to help families and the professionals who support them better understand the newborn hearing screening process, as well as make them aware of available resources. The App is free. The App guides families and their children's primary care providers from the newborn hearing screening process through diagnosis and into early intervention if the child is diagnosed as deaf or hard of hearing.

What Will You Find On Maine's EHDI Process App?

- Step-by-step instructions on how to navigate the newborn hearing screening process
- Risk factors and hearing testing recommendations for a child who may develop late-onset hearing loss
- Information for how to refer a child to early intervention, and how to connect families with family-to-family support and deaf/hard of hearing adult-to-family support
- A list of pediatric audiologists in Maine
- Information regarding hearing assistive technology
- Answers to questions that families with a child who is deaf or hard of hearing might ask their primary care provider
- And much more!

We encourage you to check out this new App! Don't forget to rate the App in the App Store or on Google Play to give us valuable feedback. For questions or comments about the App, contact us at info@earliestinteractions.com.
