

AAP Pediatric Mental Health Education Center Common Factors ECHO

The brand new American Academy of Pediatrics Pediatric Mental Health Education Center (AAP PMHEC) is recruiting pediatricians and other pediatric clinicians to join the ECHO: Caring for Patients with Mental Health Concerns—Engaging Families and Addressing Common Factors in Primary Care Settings. The common factors approach emphasizes the bond between clinician and patient (and family) and skills to influence change across a range of conditions.

Scholarship Opportunity

A limited number of scholarships are available for clinicians in Medically Underserved Areas to defray the costs of participation. Scholarships will be provided after 10 hours of training, including ECHO sessions, listening session, & asynchronous courses.
